

Guest APPEARANCES

from Gun Tales Magazine

Jim Wilson and Shane Jahn are career lawmen, hunters, and storytellers—voices shaped by real experience and a lifetime in the field. They bring that same grounded authenticity to every interview, blending wit, hard-earned insight, and a storyteller's instinct for pacing. Whether they're swapping hunting tales, unpacking firearm history, or reflecting on life beyond the badge, they have a rare ability to make an audience feel like they're sitting around the fire with them. Both men are exceptional guests—smart, articulate, and unpretentious—and every conversation they join feels like part of a story worth retelling.

The Real Deal, Not Rehearsed.

No scripted takes. Jim and Shane bring the kind of truth you can't fake: lawmen, hunters, and storytellers with real miles behind every word. Every conversation lands like a campfire story told by someone who was there.

No Pretense. No Filter.

When Jim and Shane talk guns, hunting, or culture, they do it with honesty, humor, and zero spin. Real voices, real experience—and the kind of chemistry that turns interviews into conversations people remember.

Professional Sound. Authentic Presence.

Both guests bring broadcast-ready voices, clean audio setups, and the calm authority that comes from years behind both the badge and the rifle. Your show will sound sharp, flow naturally, and leave your audience with something rare in today's media: the truth told well.
